HALE AND DORR WEALTH ADVISORS ANNOUNCES KEY ADDITIONS TO TEAM

Recent Hires Include Chief Investment Officer and Head of Fixed Income

BOSTON, MA, June 25, 2007 – Hale and Dorr Wealth Advisors (HDWA) today announced the hiring of a new Chief Investment Officer, Thomas Manning, and Head of Fixed Income, Michelle Knight.

As Chief Investment Officer, Tom Manning will be responsible for setting HDWA's overall investment policy and directing the asset allocation, investment strategy, research, portfolio management, trading, and investment risk management functions. He joins HDWA from Bank of America where he oversaw $26 billion in assets under management across 60 portfolio managers, their staff and 11 offices in New England and New York.

Tom joins the Executive Committee of the firm, which includes Kimberly Clouse, Chief Executive Officer, and Stephen Prostano, President and Chief Operating Officer. Kimberly joined HDWA in 2005 from the Family Wealth Group at U. S. Trust Company, where she advised high net worth individuals and families on their wealth management needs. Steve joined in 2006 from Atlantic Trust where he was the President and Chief Operating Officer. The Executive Committee leads a team of seasoned professionals, many of whom have extensive professional experience working with families on their wealth management needs.

Michelle Knight was previously the Head of Fixed Income at Atlantic Trust where she was responsible for fixed income investment policy and portfolio management, including analysis, trading, and implementation, for approximately $5 billion of assets. Before joining Atlantic Trust, Ms. Knight was an Analyst and Assistant Portfolio Manager with J.P. Morgan Investment Management. There she was responsible for the implementation and execution of cross-sector strategy decisions across $20 billion in assets.

"I'm excited to be joining Kimberly, Steve and the extremely talented HDWA team. One of the many benefits to clients of working with HDWA is the broad array of investment options that can be used to implement a client's investment strategy," said Tom Manning, Chief Investment Officer at HDWA.

As an independent wealth adviser, HDWA considers a wide array of investment vehicles across a myriad of asset classes, geographies and market capitalizations when constructing client portfolios. The firm's investment platform spans both traditional and alternative asset managers and includes traditional equity and fixed income investments as well as alternative investment opportunities in hedge funds, private equity, commodities and real estate. Client portfolios may be constructed using external managers and/or proprietary equity and fixed income capabilities.

"We are delighted that both Tom and Michelle have joined us as we build on our rich tradition of managing family assets in trust with an innovative approach to wealth counsel. For decades, Hale and Dorr Wealth Advisors and its predecessors have partnered with successful families to grow, manage, protect, and transfer their assets. We are building on that tradition with an approach that is designed to fulfill our clients' needs as they evolve over time and become increasingly complex," said Kimberly Clouse, CEO of HDWA.

"Given our heritage of managing family assets in trust, HDWA is well-positioned to work with wealthy families going forward. The next chapter in HDWA's history will be most exciting. We have already made tremendous strides to expand the capabilities and sophisticated advice we offer to current and prospective clients. Together with Kimberly and Tom I look forward to the many opportunities before us," said Stephen Prostano, President and Chief Operating Officer.
